THE SCHOONER.

Where the Fore and After Beats the Square Rigger.

The ability of the schooner to meet the requirements of present day conditions, while the square riggers have been found wanting, can be readily understood when we take into consideration the numerous advantages possessed by the fore and aft rig that are essential to the ideal carrier.

Operating expense, that prime factor in all transportation problems, is here reduced to a minimum, for there is no motive power so cheap as the free winds of heaven and no other craft so well adapted to utilize and control this force. The sails are of handy form and can be readily handled from the deck by a handful of men or with steam power if desired. The schooner can sail several points nearer the eye of the wind than a square rigger is able to do.

Built on the old clipper model, they sail like witches and owing to their peculiar constructions can be readily loaded and discharged. They require but little ballast and having no heavy top hamper can, if necessary to the trade, take on immense deck loads. In the lumber traffic of the Pacific northwest we find these vessels leaving port with huge deck loads towering ten to fifteen feet above the rail. Occasionally they get caught in a blow and have to sacrifice a portion of the deck load, but where one meets such a mishap dozens reach their destinations safely and land their cargoes intact.—James G. McCurdy in Outing Magazine.

A GAME OF POKER.

It Was an Object Lesson on Playing Cards With Strangers.

A card sharp well known to the stewards of the great ocean liners was a passenger on a recent trip across. He received a line at Queenstown, which had the effect of keeping him out of the large games in the smoking room. He contented himself with pinochle and bridge at 25 cents a hundred points. On the evening before landing one of his bridge party, none of whom knew that he was a professional with a bad record, proposed changing the game to poker. "It's bad practice," said the card sharp, "to play poker with strangers. There's too much risk, but it's all right in this case." The others said there was no risk if a man had good sense and kept his eyes open. The deal fell to the professional, and when cards had been drawn by each man he said: "Now I'll show you how much you know. Mr. A, you have the winning hand. Mr. B, your three queens look good, but what show have they against Mr. C's four fives? And what good are they against A's four kings? Does it tally?"

It did, and A said, "Well, it's my pot."

"I was afraid that might happen, so I dealt myself a straight flush." He showed it, arose from his chair and said: "Give the steward what I put in. This was an object lesson—don't play poker with strangers." — New York Tribune.

The Barbecue.

The word "barbecue" is derived from the Spanish word "barbacoa" and is a native Haitian term for a wooden framework supporting meat or fish to be smoked or dried over a fire. In its popular sense it means a large social or political entertainment in the open air at which sheep or oxen are roasted whole and all the feasting is on a most liberal scale. Georgia is probably the native home of the barbecue and is called the Barbecue State. Who prepared the first barbecue is unknown. Deer, bear and other game constituted the meat roasted in the barbecues of fifty years ago.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Butcher's Smock.

The butcher's smock was blue. It looked much neater than the white smocks of his friends, all smeared with dried blood. "Every butcher," said the man, "ought to wear a blue smock. Why? Because dry blood won't show on it. Dry blood turns bluish, and on a smock of this color it is invisible. I am descended from a long line of butchers, and from father to son the word has been passed down always to wear, for neatness' sake, a smock of blue." —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

CROUTONS.

To cut bread into dice before frying, if it is to be used as croutons, is not the most approved method. When done in this way it becomes very hard and indigestible. The bread should rather be cut into thin slices and then stamped out in circles a little larger than a quarter or cut into squares of about the same size or in oblongs two inches long and over one-half inch thick. These tossed into hot lard and taken out almost instantly in the frying basket are the most palatable.

Queer Marriages.

In southern India marriage with inanimate objects is not altogether unknown. A man who has lost two wives and wishes to marry another will go through a formal marriage ceremony with a plantain tree, which is afterward cut down. This stands for the third marriage, which is consideredauspicious, and the man feels free to make a fourth marriage with a third woman.

Hearing Continued.

Austin, June 24.—Judge Felix McCord, assistant attorney general, who sent the state in the habeas corpus hearing of H. Clay Pierce at St. Paul, wherein Pierce appeals from the decision of the United States district court at St. Louis in refusing to discharge him, returned to Austin. Judge McCord said that the hearing was continued to July 12.—He will go to St. Paul at that time to represent the state.

Two More to Withdraw.

Austin, June 24.—Insurance Commissioner Milner was advised by the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company of Newark and the Columbian National Life of Boston of their intention to withdraw from Texas on account of the Robertson insurance law.

SPLIT WINDPIPE.

Had Corn Remained Another Day It Would Have Sprouted.

Paris, Tex., June 24.—The three year-old child of a farmer named Wiley, near Summer, swallowed a grain of corn, which lodged in its windpipe, and the insertion of a tube and other means resorted to failed to dislodge it. The obstruction did not cause any pain, but prevented the child from breathing except through one lung. It was removed by splitting the windpipe. If the grain had remained in the windpipe a day longer it would have sprouted.

Cornerstone Laid.

Houston, June 24.—With Masonic ceremonies the cornerstone of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church was laid Monday afternoon. The building is to cost $200,000.

Mangled Body Found.

Dallas, June 24.—A negro named Henry Black, recently from Alabama, was killed by a Cotton Belt train in the suburbs. His body was terribly mangled.

Drops Dead at Table.

Paris, Tex., June 24.—While at the breakfast table Peter McAllister, ninety years old, dropped dead. He resided with his daughter, Mrs. Joe Leinoir, eight miles northeast.

Eclipses All July Records.

New York, June 24.—July dividend and interest disbursement this year by various corporations will reach the grand total of $182,881,849. This is $18,574,678, greater than the aggregate of last year and eclipses the total of any previous July.

Car Hits Picnic Wagon.

Chicago, June 24.—By a car hitting a picnic wagon, ten occupants of the latter were seriously hurt and minor injuries sustained by a number.

Beaumont, June 24.—First fourteen days of June fifty oil wells developed in gulf region.

TESTATORS' LAST WISHES.

Strange Requests Regarding the Arrangement of Funerals.

Sir James Colquhoun's desire to be buried in full evening dress costume recalls, says the London Standard, curious last wishes of other testators.

George Herring directed that his remains should lie beneath a sundial at the Haven of Rest, Maidenhead. Queen Victoria planned the entire programme for her funeral, even choosing the music to be played, the anthems to be sung.

A couple of months ago a young lady who died at Reigate on the eve of her wedding was buried in her bridal dress, the friends who were to have been her bridesmaids attending the funeral in the gowns which they should have worn at the wedding and carrying in place of wreaths the wedding bouquets.

More singular was the funeral of Major General Algernon Stewart at Hascombe, Surrey. The coffin was drawn to the grave by the dead man's horse. The mourners walked, and the bearers wore old fashioned smocks, each with its collar adorned with a text. The same men appeared in their mourning garments at the church service on the following Sunday.

Disqualified.

Although Mrs. Harlow loved her husband and admired what she considered his good points, it was a never ending source of amazement to her that he had been chosen to fill the office of mayor for three successive terms.

"Everybody knows how much I think of James," she said in a dazed way to one of her husband's cousins. "I always said and always should say that he is as good as gold. But if you'll tell me whether you think a man who is color blind and who brings home toys that won't go when you wind them and who still thinks I could like olives if I'd only try is fit for such a position, why, all I can say is I don't." —Youth's Companion.

The Modern Version.

"I want my boy to be able to earn his own living."

"To earn it, Mr. Merger?"

"Well, to get it!" —Washington Herald.

COLOR DOCTOR SOUNDS A WARNING

A colored doctor named R. B. Barnes, a resident of Cleburne, has set forth in the Review, a paper devoted to the interests of the colored race, a very timely article which has since been embodied in a circular for more general distribution, a copy of which has come to the attention of the Eagle. The writer begins by saying that since the colored people of his county organized a law and order league more than a year ago crime has become less frequent. Continuing along the same line he says: "Every thoughtful negro deplores the dastardly conduct of our soldiers at Brownsville. In this incident we were the sufferers and not the white man. Just see what a reproof a few of the race can bring on the whole race! We must do all we can to let the world know that we believe in law and order."

From the discussion of crime he goes to the equally important topic of industry and employment for the colored people. He sounds a warning regarding the influx of Mexican and Japanese labor, and says every time these people receive employment over a negro the race has lost that much. He counsels every negro man and boy to get a job and stick to it, not laying off, losing time, etc., and to take an interest in his employer's work, being prompt and on time and letting the employer know that they can be depended upon as reliable and steady. This he urges on the plea that "there is no denying the fact that we must work for a living."

He counsels colored women who cook not to be wasteful, but to make a study of cooking and try to be the best cook in town, and do all that can be done to help save for the people for whom they are working. If the negro women must have beaux he urges them to have men who work, and who will not have time to stop when the women are at work; also that loafing men be kept away entirely. He applies the same logic to washing and ironing. He declares that "cooking, washing and ironing must be regarded as honorable pursuits," which offer opportunity for making money; and he urges that the money be spent for a home first and for a piano last.

He denounces loafing about the streets, and says: "Let us be polite, and do everything we can to hold our places. Let us quit so much loud talking and behave like people, and especially when we are around depots and public places."

In conclusion Barnes says in part: "Now, if you don't stop and go to thinking and carry out these simple plans, a year from today you will be out of employment and can not get anything to do, for we as a race are not able to hire, and the white man is getting mighty tired of the way we work for him. He is getting mighty tired of feeding two these hard times in order to keep a cook. Put every child to work that is ten years old, after school. If you can not get him a place out where he can earn his board, after and before school, have him help you work at home."

Colored people who are interested in the development of their race along practical and sensible lines could not do better than to write and get copies of this circular for general distribution among their people. It contains more than has been brought out here and is a timely warning. It is a fact that the negro race will never make any material progress until individual responsibility is more generally regarded by the negroes.

PRINCIPAL ELECTED.

Prof. R. E. Scott, who is now attending the normal at San Marcos, has been chosen as principal of the Waelder High School. Saturday morning in a few hours' time he persuaded a number of people to transfer their children here. He visited a number of merchants and secured enough advertisements to issue a catalogue advertising the school, which is one of the wisest and most important steps he could have taken.

With the school well advertised a principal who will spend energy working for the upbuilding of the school, a corps of assistants who will help work for improvement, a building that a city might be proud of, Waelder is well equipped to train her children—Waelder News.

BAPTIZING SHIPS.

The Modern Method a Survival of a Barbaric Custom.

If fair young women sponsors who take a great deal of pride in breaking a bottle of champagne over the prow of a ship as she slides into the water for her first float knew something about the origin and significance of the launching custom, the chances are they would not be so eager to see the bottle crash and the foaming liquid wet the sides of the vessel.

It is a survival of a barbaric custom when sacrifices were made to the gods and some living victim or offering was held up and its throat cut so that the blood flowed over the prow of the ship being launched. The vessel was baptized in warm blood. Now sparkling wine or pure water is used, and the change has many advantages, though the symbolism remains.

There is another curious custom aboard ship that is interesting in the way it has been handed down to us. When a dignitary visits a foreign country, the moment that his ship enters port a formal salute is fired as a signal of welcome. This custom was observed years ago, when it was considered the correct thing for a port to fire its guns to show the visiting stranger that the citizens and authorities placed such confidence in his friendliness that it was not considered necessary to keep the guns loaded, so all the shot was discharged.—New York Herald.

THE AIR BRAKE.

It Was Ushered Into Actual Use In Most Dramatic Fashion.

The air brake was ushered into actual use in most dramatic fashion. The trial trip occurred in April, 1869. The train selected was the Steubenville accommodation, running between Pittsburgh and Steubenville, O.

When the train was going at full speed, suddenly as he came around a sharp curve the engineer saw a stalled wagon in the middle of the track dead ahead. With only hand brakes nothing could have prevented a terrible smashup. The formal time for the trial of the air brake had not come, but the brake was there, and in desperation, not believing for a moment that the thing could possibly avail, the engineer threw on the air. But it did avail.

The observers in the rear were almost catapulted out of their seats by the shock of the sudden stop. But when they saw the engine fairly poking its nose into the wagon bed, so narrow had been the margin between safety and disaster, they forgot all about their shock and stood in awe silence. The air brake had come into its own.—Everybody's Magazine.

Keyhold Tenure In London.

The curious custom of keyhold tenure still prevails at Crowland, the famous abbey town in the Lincolnshire fens, where there are a number of cottages which are neither copyhold, freehold nor leasehold. They were originally built on waste land, and in each case the possessor of the key holds an undisputed tenancy. Although some of the occupiers have replaced the mud and thatched dwellings of antiquity with brick and slated buildings, they have no power to sell or will them away, for they have no deeds. On a tenant dying the first person to cross the threshold takes his place if he so desires. Many devices have been resorted to obtain the keys. The properties carry a county vote, but the poor law guardians always refuse to grant relief to the tenants.—London Globe.

A Vegetable Freak.

California has one tree which is the personification of mystery. Found nowhere else in the world, it had a mysterious origin and thrives in a region of mystery. The Mojave yucca is a vegetable freak which has developed into a species. It has the characteristics of several plants, to which no relationship can be traced. It is an endogen, yet its bark shows concentric rings such as characterize the exogenous stems. It lives and thrives in great numbers in a region nearly devoid of vegetation.—P. E. Magazine.

TWENTY TO THIRTY DAY'S TOUR IN MEXICO.

Mr. C. G. Walker of this city, is making arrangements for a party to take a 20 or 30 days' tour in Mexico, leaving Bryan between the fifth and fifteenth of July. A Pullman and an observation car will be provided for the comfort and pleasure of all who wish to accompany the party, and the trip will be made under the personal direction of an official of the Mexican National railroad company. Tickets will be good for ninety days at the same rate, but it is expected to limit the trip to about twenty or thirty days to suit the convenience of the greatest number. The party will visit the City of Mexico and surrounding and intermediate points of interest, and the trip will be in all respects an ideal one.

Persons desiring any further information can obtain same from Mr. C. G. Walker.

Weak Women

To weak and silly women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is Constitutional.

The former, Shoop's Night Cure—is topical membrane antiseptic remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment.

The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It restores and inflamed mucous surface, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well weak women.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will strengthen the distorted limbs of chronic grippe, nor turn pony growths back to face again. That is impossible.

Without doubt, I have successfully treated many cases of Rheumatism; but, however, I uniformly cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when dissolved in pure water.

And then, as the disease passes, these poisonous wastes are carried out of the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

L. D. Erskine of Castana, Iowa, and C. N. Jarvis, Will Hawkins and Jack Devericks of Onawa, are here prospecting with the view of purchasing land, and are stopping at the Comfort Hotel. They have been making trips into the country around Bryan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hartgraves were here from Caldwell yesterday and Mr. Hartgraves turned over to Mr. Ira Gooch the new building on Bryan street which is now ready for occupancy by the Buchanan-Moore Co., who will probably get moved in during the next week.

*Messrs. Robt. S. Webb Jr. and Stuart Boatwright returned yesterday from northern and eastern cities, Niagara Falls, Washington and the Jamestown exposition, whither they went as members of the Toby business college party. They will go to Waco the coming week to enter upon the work of a business course in the Toby school.

Chas. Claydon of Kurten community was in the city yesterday and showed the Eagle representative a current number of the American Telephone Journal, published in New York and Chicago, in which appears an extended write-up of Mr. Claydon's patent telephone insulator, together with diagrams of the same.

Rev. T. A. Searcy has returned from a visit to North Zulch and Cross. He came through Navasota on the way home and reports that town making wonderful preparations for the Hood's Brigade reunion on Thursday and Friday. The band, military company, secret orders and many others will take part in the parade. Arches have been erected over the streets and will be adorned with electric lights.

Call at our store, please, for a free sample of Dr. Shoop's "Health Coffee." If real coffee disturbs your Stomach, your Heart, or Kidneys, then try this Clever Coffee imitation. While Dr. Shoop has very closely matched Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor and taste, yet he has not even a single grain of real Coffee in it. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted grains or cereals, with Malt, Nuts, etc. You will surely like Health Coffee. Sold by J. M. Lawrence & Co.

A BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

Mrs. N. C. Jones of Harvey celebrated her seventieth birthday Sunday, June 23, with her children, grand children, neighbors and friends. She has four children living, Mrs. A. B. Gandy of Rock Prairie, Mrs. C. S. Jones, Miss Emma Jones and J. D. Jones of Harvey, twenty-six grand children and two great grand children, most all of them gathered at the old home on this happy occasion. Her two aged sisters, Mrs. Frank Jones who is now seventy-five years of age, and Mrs. M. A. Holland who is sixty-three, were present.

A magnificent dinner was spread on the long table under the shade trees and all partook of the many good things to eat, wishing that grand-mother's birthday would come often. Mrs. Jones is now well and hearty. We wish for her many such birthdays.

FINE ADDING MACHINE.

The City National Bank has just received a very fine new Burroughs adding machine, made to special order, and having a device for adding two separate columns of figures at once and other new attachments increasing its convenience and serviceability. It is larger than the usual machine and one of the best manufactured. Its capacity is within one cent of eleven millions.

SHOOT AND BARBECUE TODAY.

As previously announced the Bryan Gun Club's annual shoot and barbecue takes place today at the fair grounds and a good time is expected by lovers of the sport.

Her Loss.

Gladys—Edith is so sorry she took Herbert's ring back to price it. Penelope—Why so? Gladys—Why, the jeweler said seeing Herbert hadn't been in to settle for it, as he promised, he guessed he'd keep it.

Just the Other Way.

She—Did you ever take your motor car to pieces to see how it worked? He—Well, not exactly. I have taken it to pieces to see how it didn't work.

RAISING CHURCH FUNDS.

The Kaffirs Mix In a Lot of Fun With Their Generosity.

The gentle Kaffir when he does become Christianized has his own ideas of the best method of raising funds for the support of the "cause." From the subjoined description of a native meeting sent home by a missionary it would appear that native generosity, although of a rough and tumble character, is distinctly productive of ways and means:

"Recently I attended a native tea meeting, at which more than £12 was raised by this very poor congregation. Their way of doing it was characteristic and amusing. They paid 2 shillings to sit down to tea. Then some one would pay 3 shillings for such and such a man to be required to get up again and leave the table. The man thus assailed would pay 3s. 6d. for leave to sit down again. There was a special table at which six could sit, paying an extra shilling each for the privilege. They had just got seated when a man paid 7 shillings to clear them out, and they paid another 8 shillings to sit on, and so it went on. This is their way of giving to the cause. One man had a tin of syrup. He said he would pay 2 shillings to pour it over another man's head who had got himself up well in a large collar, etc. This man paid 3 shillings to let off, the first man 4 shillings again to do it, the other 5 shillings to escape, the first 6 shillings to do it—and did it, and, oh, the laughter and the mess!"

THE SACRED CODFISH.

Famous Emblem That Adorns the Massachusetts Statehouse.

A codfish carved in wood hangs on the white mahogany wall of the Massachusetts hall of representatives in the statehouse in Boston. Between two classic pillars it occupies a place of honor, directly opposite the desk of the presiding officer. This wooden fish is the renowned original sacred codfish of the Old Colony, and it has assisted at the deliberations of the lawmakers of Massachusetts for more than a century and a half, gathering sanctity year by year. It is a relic of the old building which preceded the present statehouse, and great is the dignity of this souvenir of colonial art and industry. They began:

Bury Bartholomew out in the woods
In a beautiful hole in the ground,

In the afternoon I drove with a party of friends, and we took the refreshment of tea at a house where there were several other guests, all unknown to me even by name. As two of these lived at a place on our homeward route, they accompanied us in our vehicle. As we passed a wood on a hill side one of these anonymous strangers said to me, "This is the burial place of the Murrys of Glendubrule." I ab-sently and automatically replied:

Bury Bartholomew out in the woods
In a beautiful hole in the ground.

A kind of chill shiver settled on the party, though one of them tactfully asked me what poet I was quoting.

When we had set down our two strangers at their own home I was asked whether I knew the name of the gentleman on whom I had expended my poetical quotation? Of course I did not know, and of course his surname was Bartholomew, while, as he seemed in bad health, my citation had an air of brutal appropriateness. "Thus does fortune banter us," for Bartholomew is a most unusual name in Scotland.

Superstitious.

A well known New Yorker, while dining at his club one evening, observed that his order of oysters on the shell was not complete, there being only eleven bivalves instead of the dozen it was his custom to order. On reflecting that his waiter, an Irishman, was a newcomer, he decided to let the matter pass, but when on the next evening the same thing occurred he became a trifle impatient.

"See here," exclaimed he to the waiter, "what do you mean by bringing me eleven oysters when I order twelve? This is the second time that this thing has happened."

"Sure, sir," quietly responded the Celt, "I didn't think you would want to risk being thirteen at table, sir."

Elephants.

People who really know nothing about it used to say that elephants never lie down to sleep. This is not true at all, says one writer. They have been known to stand for twelve months without lying down to sleep. This is regarded as want of confidence in their keepers and of longing to regain their liberty, for when they are perfectly at ease and reconciled to their fate they will lie down on their sides and sleep peacefully.

A Flippant Jailbird.

"This confinement," said the long faced prison visitor, "must distress you greatly."

"Yes," replied the facetious convict.

"I find the prison bars grating."

"Ah, life to you is a failure."

"Yes; it's nothing but a cell."

Lazy.

Some friends were discussing an artist whose laziness was proverbial.

"He is so lazy," said one, "that he paints nothing but winter scenes to save himself the trouble of putting leaves on the trees."

BOOKS AND BINDINGS.

A Critic's Comparison of the Modern With the Ancient.

"One of the strangest things about the early printing is the fact that the paper and binding were so much better than we have nowadays," said a St. Louis collector.

"I have books on my shelves printed and bound by presumably reputable firms, and yet after six or eight years of careful use the paper is coming to pieces and the bindings are gone, while side by side with them are books 300 years old with paper intact and the bindings as good as new. The difference is of course in honesty of material and work. In the old days a hide was allowed to lie in the tanner's vats for a year before it was thought fit for use. Paper was handmade of real linen rags. Now book leather is ready two or three weeks after the calf has been skinned. Paper is machine made of heaven knows what. Of course there may be honestly made paper and strong binding now, as there were then, but a couple of hundred years ago good binding and paper were the rule. Now they are the rare, also the costly, exceptions. It is true that the high temperatures of the houses, the gases and coal fumes may have something to do with impairing leather bindings, for, as everybody knows, a stout cloth or canvas binding is better than the leather now used. The same influences may also damage the paper, but still the fact remains that neither the temperature nor the gases affect the work of the old printers, so the difference, after all, is one of quality."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A COINCIDENCE.

Peculiar Combination of Events Related by Andrew Lang.

As to "the long arm of coincidence," it may be as long as is necessary. Nothing is impossible to coincidence. An instance of my own experience said Andrew Lang, convinces me of this fact. I had been reading a foolish book, "Out of the Hurly Burly," and some of the rhymes ran in my head. They began:

Bury Bartholomew out in the woods
In a beautiful hole in the ground,

In the afternoon I drove with a party of friends, and we took the refreshment of tea at a house where there were several other guests, all unknown to me even by name. As two of these lived at a place on our homeward route, they accompanied us in our vehicle.
